Dear, mr. Secretary of State.

I just viewed my second video from Judicial Watch in as many days regarding Iowa's out-of-date voter rolls.

Mr. Fenton contends you are not doing your job. Is this true?

I look forward to your explanation.

Most Respectfully yours,

"The more security all Iowa's voters and caucus locations are afforded, the more secure the Iowa caucuses. This is not only the public's interest, but also the security of the caucuses. For the presidential nominating process, there are no elections. It would be a tragedy if we were to have the caucuses and not have the security of the caucuses. I support IDP while they take their

Hey everyone,

One of our Department of Homeland Security Cybersecurity Advisors for Region 7, (J.D. Henry), has requested that we put together a sort of After Action Report for Monday's events. Specifically, he said it would be useful to comment on our interactions with social media companies in regards to Judicial Watch.

Before we send a reply to J.D., we wanted to have a little more office input. Feel free to comment, highlight, or change anything you see as relevant. J.D. told me he doesn't need an official, formal response to the events (at least initially).

Topics to include:

- How do we feel they (social media companies) handled the events?
- How was our input received?
- Do we think appropriate action was taken?
- What changes and/or differences would we expect/like to see moving towards the rest of the elections this year?

What happened?

Judicial Watch put out a Tweet that said, "BREAKING: @JudicialWatch: Eight Iowa Counties Have Total Registration Rates Larger than Eligible Voter Population – at Least 18,658 Extra Names on Iowa Voting Roll..."

One of our responses on Twitter, "A D.C.-based organization made false claims today regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office, as well as the @uscensusbureau shows this information is false."

Notes from Communications:

- Facebook was responsive, labeled posts as, "False information," (or something similar).
 - Label was on there within an hour or so.
 - Included a breakdown of everywhere that information had appeared.
- Twitter was completely unresponsive (no official reply was given to our office).

Thanks,

Joel Merrick

Subject: More Iowa voter registrations than eligible votes in 8 Counties
Date: Thursday, February 6, 2020 12:07:30 PM

It is being reported that Judicial Watch has suggested that in 8 Iowa Counties, the number of registered voters exceeds the number of eligible voters. It is also being reported that the Iowa Secretary of State denies that is the case, but WON'T RELEASE THE RECORDS.

With the Iowa Democrat Caucus DEBACLE, don't you think it would be advisable to NOT COMPOUND the DISGRACE by HIDING the FACTS?

Voter Fraud "doesn't exist", claim the Democrats, yet indications of circumstances that would facilitate VOTER FRAUD ABOUND across the country. The problem is further exacerbated, demanding MORE government TRANSPARENCY, NOT LESS, is the widespread belief that if the government is involved, CORRUPTION IS INEVITABLE.

OPEN THE RECORDS to AUDIT!

Thanks, but FYI some of what you're saying is possibly tendentious as well. FYI Judicial Watch is standing by it's count of eight counties -- they're saying the number of counties is 5 according to the other data you guys are using, which they aren't relying on. They use their own data which involves interpolating EAC data with the use of professional demographers -- both California and Kentucky settled federal lawsuits with them last year over excess voter registrations and no one disputed their numbers.

Either way, I have one WaPo story saying only one county has more registrations than voters:

https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/conservatives-push-false-claims-voter-fraud-twitter-iowans-prepare-caucus/?itid=hp_rhp-bignews3_voter-fraud-155pm%3Ahomepage%2Fstory-ans

And another WaPo story saying it's five counties:

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/judicial-watches-voter-fraud-fear-mongering-finds-new-opponent-pro-voter-id-iowa-official/>

And you guys have issued a press release where you're not actually specifying the number. Starting to see the problem here?

And if you're a law and order GOP SoS, are we really going to die on the hill of 5 vs. 8 here? Wouldn't one county with this problem be considered an issue you guys need to address?

Mark,

We're not commenting officially on this story any longer. Below is the release we put out yesterday.

(For background, not attribution to me or our office, I'll add a few tidbits:

-JW admitted they used old data.

-First they claimed 8 counties. When that was proven wrong, they claimed 5. They're still using old population data.

-I'm positive JW did not take into account that 17-year-olds can register to vote in Iowa. There are approximately 5,000 registered right now. Not including them in registration or population data skews their numbers.

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co, is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Thanks, but FYI some of what you're saying is possibly tendentious as well. FYI Judicial Watch is standing by it's count of eight counties -- they're saying the number of counties is 5 according to the other data you guys are using, which they aren't relying on. They use their own data which involves interpolating EAC data with the use of professional demographers -- both California and Kentucky settled federal lawsuits with them last year over excess voter registrations and no one disputed their numbers.

Either way, I have one WaPo story saying only one county has more registrations than voters:

https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/conservatives-push-false-claims-voter-fraud-twitter-iowans-prepare-caucus/?itid=hp_rhp-bignews3_voter-fraud-155pm%3Ahomepage%2Fstory-ans

And another WaPo story saying it's five counties:

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/judicial-watches-voter-fraud-fear-mongering-finds-new-opponent-pro-voter-id-iowa-official/>

And you guys have issued a press release where you're not actually specifying the number. Starting to see the problem here?

And if you're a law and order GOP SoS, are we really going to die on the hill of 5 vs. 8 here? Wouldn't one county with this problem be considered an issue you guys need to address?

-JW admitted they used old data.

-First they claimed 8 counties. When that was proven wrong, they claimed 5. They're still using old population data.

-I'm positive JW did not take into account that 17-year-olds can register to vote in Iowa. There are approximately 5,000 registered right now. Not including them in registration or population data skews their numbers.

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co, is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

We would like to remove inactives in a more expedited fashion but we are bound to follow the law.

I see.

To your points:

- 1) It seems to me they didn't claim it was for 2020. Headlines are usually in present tense, but the first paragraph of their release says it was data released in 2019. I give you that they didn't specify it was 2018 data.
- 2) They used the 2017 Census. Got it. Again, would you have any complaint if they used the 2018 Census data? As far as I see, that's the last appropriate data set.
- 3) Another point of contention I see, is that you are focused on the number of counties over 100. Is that 8, 5, or 1? They seem to basically say it doesn't matter (except it makes for a headline). It's just an indicator that Iowa needs to do more to clean up their rolls. So, does it matter in substance if its 100%, 105%, or 95%? Why?
- 4) I get it that you need to keep inactives on for some time. JW, on the other hand, states reasons to include them and the inactives are, technically, still on the rolls. So I see your point, but is it "false" to include the inactives? It seems JW has successfully sued other states to cut inactives that have been kept on the rolls too long.
- 5) I get the 17-year-olds, but the EAC asked you to exclude them and JW used EAC data. So did you give EAC correct data?
- 6) We still have the discrepancy between the SOS website and EAC data. Is there a reason for it?

I'd be glad to move on from this with nothing left on the table. I appreciate your getting back to me.

Thanks.

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. If I used SOS's July 2019 data, Dallas still over 100).

What do you think?

What is the most current Census data? This? <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html> For Iowa, this is only 0.5 percent above what the JW used. Moreover, Census says Iowa population actually dropped between 2018 and 2019: <https://www.census.gov/quickfacts/fact/table/IA/PST045218>

- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?

- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?

- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?

- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Thank you!

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co, is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

Subject: Voter registration - update

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Petr,

Their report is full of inconsistencies, misleading & old figures based on varying timelines that no statistician would ever use to create an accurate measure, and was timed for release on caucus day to garner attention.

There are list maintenance procedures that we are required by Iowa & federal law to follow. I have attached some useful information for you.

We would like to remove inactives in a more expedited fashion but we are bound to follow the law.

I see.

To your points:

- 1) It seems to me they didn't claim it was for 2020. Headlines are usually in present tense, but the first paragraph of their release says it was data released in 2019. I give you that they didn't specify it was 2018 data.
- 2) They used the 2017 Census. Got it. Again, would you have any complaint if they used the 2018 Census data? As far as I see, that's the last appropriate data set.
- 3) Another point of contention I see, is that you are focused on the number of counties over 100. Is that 8, 5, or 1? They seem to basically say it doesn't matter (except it makes for a headline). It's just an indicator that Iowa needs to do more to clean up their rolls. So, does it matter in substance if its 100%, 105%, or 95%? Why?
- 4) I get it that you need to keep inactives on for some time. JW, on the other hand, states reasons to include them and the inactives are, technically, still on the rolls. So I see your point, but is it "false" to include the inactives? It seems JW has successfully sued other states to cut inactives that have been kept on the rolls too long.
- 5) I get the 17-year-olds, but the EAC asked you to exclude them and JW used EAC data. So did you give EAC correct data?
- 6) We still have the discrepancy between the SOS website and EAC data. Is there a reason for it?

I'd be glad to move on from this with nothing left on the table. I appreciate your getting back to me.

Thanks.

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?

- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?

- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?

- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?

- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Thank you!

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co, is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Hi Kevin,

I'm a reporter over at FactCheck.org and I'm writing about the recent Judicial Watch analysis regarding Iowa voter registration rates. Had a quick question:

Is my understanding correct that Iowa uses mailed notices to determine "inactive records" (which may apply to voters who move, die, or don't respond to the notices)? And that, under state law, if a voter's record has been inactive for "two successive general elections," that registration is canceled?

Just want to make sure I'm clear on that.

The voter reg totals (total, active and inactive) were all pulled before our 2019 list maintenance season (NCOA, no activity, multistate). Inactive voters are in the pipeline to be cancelled. If a voter is inactive for two successive general election cycles, they are sent a final mailing and cancelled.

Subject: Re: Voter registration - update

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

No. By their own admission, after the fact, they used old data for both registration and population. And they used it from 2 different time periods. Data that is 14 months old regarding registration and data from 2017 regarding population. They acted like their data was current. It's not. Ours, the official data, is current.

You can't use population data from 2017, voter registration data from 2018 and proclaim it matches what's going on in 2020. That's skewing the numbers and creating a false impression.

Population data has changed dramatically since 2017, particularly in Dallas County, the fastest growing county in the Midwest. It also changes frequently in Johnson and Poweshiek counties, which are homes to college towns. In Johnson County's case, the University of Iowa. Their population is 7,000 people higher than what Judicial Watch claims & Dallas County is 10,000 higher.

You keep talking about statewide population. Look at the population of the counties being talked about.

17 year olds are eligible to vote in primaries and caucuses in Iowa if they will be 18 by Election Day in November.

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. - How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?

- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

I see.

To your points:

- 1) It seems to me they didn't claim it was for 2020. Headlines are usually in present tense, but the first paragraph of their release says it was data released in 2019. I give you that they didn't specify it was 2018 data.
- 2) They used the 2017 Census. Got it. Again, would you have any complaint if they used the 2018 Census data? As far as I see, that's the last appropriate data set.
- 3) Another point of contention I see, is that you are focused on the number of counties over 100. Is that 8, 5, or 1? They seem to basically say it doesn't matter (except it makes for a headline). It's just an indicator that Iowa needs to do more to clean up their rolls. So, does it matter in substance if its 100%, 105%, or 95%? Why?
- 4) I get it that you need to keep inactives on for some time. JW, on the other hand, states reasons to include them and the inactives are, technically, still on the rolls. So I see your point, but is it "false" to include the inactives? It seems JW has successfully sued other states to cut inactives that have been kept on the rolls too long.
- 5) I get the 17-year-olds, but the EAC asked you to exclude them and JW used EAC data. So did you give EAC correct data?
- 6) We still have the discrepancy between the SOS website and EAC data. Is there a reason for it?

I'd be glad to move on from this with nothing left on the table. I appreciate your getting back to me.

Thanks.

Petr

1. By their own admission they used old data. From 16 months ago.
2. 17 year olds are eligible to vote in primary elections in Iowa (and caucuses).

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. If I used SOS's July 2019 data, Dallas still over 100).

What do you think?

But again, that's based on including inactive voters, which are mostly people that have moved away, and would have to show ID and proof of residency to vote again in Iowa. We are required by Iowa and federal law to move them to inactive status before cancelling their voter registration. Inactive is the final stop before a voter's registration is cancelled.

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?
- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?
- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?
- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?
- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Thank you!

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Subject: Voter registration - update

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

Ok. I don't see citizens over 18 estimates for 2019. I only see those for 2014-2018. For 2010-2019, I only see resident over 18 for the whole state or total population by county. The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. If I used SOS's July 2019 data, Dallas still over 100).

What do you think?

What is the most current Census data? This? <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/evap.2020.html> For Iowa, this is only 0.5 percent above what the JW used. Moreover, Census says Iowa population actually dropped between 2018 and 2019: <https://www.census.gov/quickfacts/fact/table/IA/PST045218>

Based on our numbers, which are actual voter registration numbers, and based on the most current data from the U.S. Census Bureau, there is one county, Lyon. And again, that is the most conservative county in the state (81% for Trump in 2016).

But again, that's based on including inactive voters, which are mostly people that have moved away, and would have to show ID and proof of residency to vote again in Iowa. We are required by Iowa and federal law to move them to inactive status before cancelling their voter registration. Inactive is the final stop before a voter's registration is cancelled.

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?

- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?

- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?

- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?

- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Thank you!

JW admitted they used old data.

-First they claimed 8 counties. When that was proven wrong, they claimed 5. They're still using old population data.

-I'm positive JW did not take into account that 17-year-olds can register to vote in Iowa. There are approximately 5,000 registered right now. Not including them in registration or population data skews their numbers.

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co, is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

Subject: Voter registration - update

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Hi Kevin,

I'm a reporter over at FactCheck.org and I'm writing about the recent Judicial Watch analysis regarding Iowa voter registration rates. Had a quick question:

Is my understanding correct that Iowa uses mailed notices to determine "inactive records" (which may apply to voters who move, die, or don't respond to the notices)? And that, under state law, if a voter's record has been inactive for "two successive general elections," that registration is canceled?

Just want to make sure I'm clear on that.

Thanks,

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?

- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?

- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?

- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?

- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Petr,

Their report is full of inconsistencies, misleading & old figures based on varying timelines that no statistician would ever use to create an accurate measure, and was timed for release on caucus day to garner attention.

There are list maintenance procedures that we are required by Iowa & federal law to follow. I have attached some useful information for you.

We would like to remove inactives in a more expedited fashion but we are bound to follow the law.

I see.

To your points:

- 1) It seems to me they didn't claim it was for 2020. Headlines are usually in present tense, but the first paragraph of their release says it was data released in 2019. I give you that they didn't specify it was 2018 data.
- 2) They used the 2017 Census. Got it. Again, would you have any complaint if they used the 2018 Census data? As far as I see, that's the last appropriate data set.
- 3) Another point of contention I see, is that you are focused on the number of counties over 100. Is that 8, 5, or 1? They seem to basically say it doesn't matter (except it makes for a headline). It's just an indicator that Iowa needs to do more to clean up their rolls. So, does it matter in substance if its 100%, 105%, or 95%? Why?
- 4) I get it that you need to keep inactives on for some time. JW, on the other hand, states reasons to include them and the inactives are, technically, still on the rolls. So I see your point, but is it "false" to include the inactives? It seems JW has successfully sued other states to cut inactives that have been kept on the rolls too long.
- 5) I get the 17-year-olds, but the EAC asked you to exclude them and JW used EAC data. So did you give EAC correct data?
- 6) We still have the discrepancy between the SOS website and EAC data. Is there a reason for it?

I'd be glad to move on from this with nothing left on the table. I appreciate your getting back to me.

Thanks.

Petr

Additionally, the voter reg totals (total, active and inactive) were all pulled before our 2019 list maintenance season (NCOA, no activity, multistate).

Inactive voters are in the pipeline to be cancelled. If a voter is inactive for two successive general election cycles, they are sent a final mailing and cancelled.

Subject: Re: Voter registration - update

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

Ok. I don't see citizens over 18 estimates for 2019. I only see those for 2014-2018.
For 2010-2019, I only see resident over 18 for the whole state or total population by county.
The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. If I used SOS's July 2019 data, Dallas still over 100).

What do you think?

Thanks!

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?

- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?

- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?

- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?

- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Thank you!

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co, is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

Subject: Voter registration - update

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Thanks, but FYI some of what you're saying is possibly tendentious as well. FYI Judicial Watch is standing by it's count of eight counties -- they're saying the number of counties is 5 according to the other data you guys are using, which they aren't relying on. They use their own data which involves interpolating EAC data with the use of professional demographers -- both California and Kentucky settled federal lawsuits with them last year over excess voter registrations and no one disputed their numbers.

Either way, I have one WaPo story saying only one county has more registrations than voters:

https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/conservatives-push-false-claims-voter-fraud-twitter-iowans-prepare-caucus/?itid=hp_rhp-bignews3_voter-fraud-155pm%3Ahomepage%2Fstory-ans

And another WaPo story saying it's five counties:

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/judicial-watches-voter-fraud-fear-mongering-finds-new-opponent-pro-voter-id-iowa-official/>

And you guys have issued a press release where you're not actually specifying the number. Starting to see the problem here?

And if you're a law and order GOP SoS, are we really going to die on the hill of 5 vs. 8 here? Wouldn't one county with this problem be considered an issue you guys need to address?

Mark,

We're not commenting officially on this story any longer. Below is the release we put out yesterday.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

I see.

To your points:

- 1) It seems to me they didn't claim it was for 2020. Headlines are usually in present tense, but the first paragraph of their release says it was data released in 2019. I give you that they didn't specify it was 2018 data.
- 2) They used the 2017 Census. Got it. Again, would you have any complaint if they used the 2018 Census data? As far as I see, that's the last appropriate data set.
- 3) Another point of contention I see, is that you are focused on the number of counties over 100. Is that 8, 5, or 1? They seem to basically say it doesn't matter (except it makes for a headline). It's just an indicator that Iowa needs to do more to clean up their rolls. So, does it matter in substance if its 100%, 105%, or 95%? Why?
- 4) I get it that you need to keep inactives on for some time. JW, on the other hand, states reasons to include them and the inactives are, technically, still on the rolls. So I see your point, but is it "false" to include the inactives? It seems JW has successfully sued other states to cut inactives that have been kept on the rolls too long.
- 5) I get the 17-year-olds, but the EAC asked you to exclude them and JW used EAC data. So did you give EAC correct data?
- 6) We still have the discrepancy between the SOS website and EAC data. Is there a reason for it?

I'd be glad to move on from this with nothing left on the table. I appreciate your getting back to me.

Thanks.

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?

- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. If I used SOS's July 2019 data, Dallas still over 100).

What do you think?

Thanks, but FYI some of what you're saying is possibly tendentious as well. FYI Judicial Watch is standing by it's count of eight counties -- they're saying the number of counties is 5 according to the other data you guys are using, which they aren't relying on. They use their own data which involves interpolating EAC data with the use of professional demographers -- both California and Kentucky settled federal lawsuits with them last year over excess voter registrations and no one disputed their numbers.

Either way, I have one WaPo story saying only one county has more registrations than voters:

https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/conservatives-push-false-claims-voter-fraud-twitter-iowans-prepare-caucus/?itid=hp_rhp-bignews3_voter-fraud-155pm%3Ahomepage%2Fstory-ans

And another WaPo story saying it's five counties:

-I'm positive JW did not take into account that 17-year-olds can register to vote in Iowa. There are approximately 5,000 registered right now. Not including them in registration or population data skews their numbers.

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co. is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

(And FWIW 20 or so states allow pre-registration by 17 year-olds -- other voting experts have told me that it's usually not factored into analyses because it doesn't usually make a significant impact. I could be persuaded otherwise, but again this would all be easier to sort if we just established the number of counties here.)

Thanks, but FYI some of what you're saying is possibly tendentious as well. FYI Judicial Watch is standing by it's count of eight counties -- they're saying the number of counties is 5 according to the other data you guys are using, which they aren't relying on. They use their own data which involves interpolating EAC data with the use of professional demographers -- both California and Kentucky settled federal lawsuits with them last year over excess voter registrations and no one disputed their numbers.

Either way, I have one WaPo story saying only one county has more registrations than voters:

Based on our numbers, which are actual voter registration numbers, and based on the most current data from the U.S. Census Bureau, there is one county, Lyon. And again, that is the most conservative county in the state (81% for Trump in 2016).

But again, that's based on including inactive voters, which are mostly people that have moved away, and would have to show ID and proof of residency to vote again in Iowa. We are required by Iowa and federal law to move them to inactive status before cancelling their voter registration. Inactive is the final stop before a voter's registration is cancelled.

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?
- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?
- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?
- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?
- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds. Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Thank you!

Petr

Additionally, we're required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that most likely moved out of state. Including them in voter reg. totals greatly skews the numbers, and when you do that, only Lyon Co. appears to have slightly more than the voting age population. Lyon Co. is also the most Republican county in the entire state, and one of the top in the country (81% for Trump in 2016).

Subject: Voter registration - update

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

Additionally, the voter reg totals (total, active and inactive) were all pulled before our 2019 list maintenance season (NCOA, no activity, multistate).

Inactive voters are in the pipeline to be cancelled. If a voter is inactive for two successive general election cycles, they are sent a final mailing and cancelled.

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. If I used SOS's July 2019 data, Dallas still over 100).

What do you think?

What is the most current Census data? This? <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html> For Iowa, this is only 0.5 percent above what the JW used. Moreover, Census says Iowa population actually dropped between 2018 and 2019: <https://www.census.gov/quickfacts/fact/table/IA/PST045218>

But again, that's based on including inactive voters, which are mostly people that have moved away, and would have to show ID and proof of residency to vote again in Iowa. We are required by Iowa and federal law to move them to inactive status before cancelling their voter registration. Inactive is the final stop before a voter's registration is cancelled.

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?
- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?
- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?
- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?
- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

This is for informational purposes, not for quoting me:

I looked at numbers from 2019, the most current, which show only one county with more: Lyon, the most Republican county in the state (81% voted for Trump in 2016).

Dallas County is one of the fastest growing in the Midwest, so data from two years ago would be way behind.

Additionally, JW does not factor in the fact that 17-year-olds are eligible to register to vote in Iowa, and approximately 5,000 of them are registered. So claiming those registrants as part of a pool of 18+ population is erroneous and skews the numbers.

Additionally, we are required by law to keep inactive voters on the rolls for a period of time. These are people that have most likely moved away. They would have to show Voter ID to cast a ballot again in Iowa. To include them in the data creates a false impression.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES — A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Good morning,

I am a fact-checking journalist for AFP news agency, and today I am looking into the Judicial Watch report according to which 8 Iowa counties have more registered voters than voting-age residents.

I have been looking at the numbers that the secretary of state used in his debunk of the claim: <https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/pdf/VBStatsArchive/2020/Jan20.pdf>

They differ from the ones I found on the Electoral Assistance Commission websites, sometimes by several thousands: https://data.census.gov/cedsci/table?id=ACSSST5Y2018.S0101&q=0500000US19059.19119.19121.19103.19157.19163.19181.19049&vintage=2018&layer=county&hidePreview=false&cid=S0101_C01_001E
I'm guessing that your numbers and those of the EAC are compiled differently? Is there anything in particular that might account for this difference?

Would it be possible to also have a statement on the Judicial Watch report that became viral on Twitter yesterday? Why was it important for the secretary of state to react? Has anything like this happened in the past?

My deadline is this evening, could we maybe schedule a call for the end of the morning?

I am a fact-checking journalist for AFP news agency, and today I am looking into the Judicial Watch report according to which 8 Iowa counties have more registered voters than voting-age residents.

I have been looking at the numbers that the secretary of state used in his debunk of the claim: <https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/pdf/VRStatsArchive/2020/Colan20.pdf>

They differ from the ones I found on the Electoral Assistance Commission websites, sometimes by several thousands: https://data.census.gov/cedsci/table?id=ACSST5Y2018.S0101&q=0500000US19059.19119.19121.19103.19157.19163.19181.19049&vintage=2018&layer=county&hidePreview=false&cid=S0101_C01_001E
I'm guessing that your numbers and those of the EAC are compiled differently? Is there anything in particular that might account for this difference?

Would it be possible to also have a statement on the Judicial Watch report that became viral on Twitter yesterday? Why was it important for the secretary of state to react? Has anything like this happened in the past?

My deadline is this evening, could we maybe schedule a call for the end of the morning?

Thank you,

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.

https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

No. By their own admission, after the fact, they used old data for both registration and population. And they used it from 2 different time periods. Data that is 14 months old regarding registration and data from 2017 regarding population. They acted like their data was current. It's not. Ours, the official data, is current.

You can't use population data from 2017, voter registration data from 2018 and proclaim it matches what's going on in 2020. That's skewing the numbers and creating a false impression.

Population data has changed dramatically since 2017, particularly in Dallas County, the fastest growing county in the Midwest. It also changes frequently in Johnson and Poweshiek counties, which are homes to college towns. In Johnson County's case, the University of Iowa. Their population is 7,000 people higher than what Judicial Watch claims & Dallas County is 10,000 higher.

You keep talking about statewide population. Look at the population of the counties being talked about.

17 year olds are eligible to vote in primaries and caucuses in Iowa if they will be 18 by Election Day in November.

Kevin,

To wrap up:

- 1) EAC asks states to exclude "persons under the age of 18 registered under a 'pre-registration' program." So your 17-year-olds point doesn't seem to apply, unless Iowa gave wrong numbers to the EAC.
- 2) EAC asks states for the counts of "individuals who were registered and eligible to vote in the 2018 general election." The election day was on Nov. 6, 2018, and Iowa allows election day voter registration so SOS's Nov. 2018 data should be the same as the EAC data minus the 17-year-olds. It seems it's not. So, again, what kind of data did SOS give to the EAC? Can you blame JW for using fed data instead of what you have on your website when the two don't match? Why?
- 3) JW's pop counts were slightly underestimated--the latest Census counts of citizens over 18 are for 2018, only 0.5% higher what JW used (2017). If they used the 2018 counts, would you blame them? Why?
- 4) JW counts inactives. You disagree, saying you have to keep them for some time. They have lawsuits to prove that inactives should be counted because the law required they should be removed timely--it's important to measure if Iowa is doing that.
- 5) There's a significant mismatch between Iowa's reg. rate on paper and the real reg. rate (as captured by Census survey) so Iowa still has a ways to go to clean up its voter rolls.
- 6) Would it be fair to say that SOS overreacted in its response by calling JW's numbers "patently false" and saying JW's population counts were "greatly underestimated"?

Thank you!

The data does indicate 7 percent total population growth in Dallas County, but even if I tried to increase the 2014-2018 eligible population number for the county by 7 percent, it still shows registration rate of over 103 percent (using SOS's Feb. 2020 registration data. If I used SOS's July 2019 data, Dallas still over 100).

What do you think?

I see.

- Could you please point me to the population data SOS is using?

- 5,000 17-year-olds is less than 0.25 percent of Iowa's active registrants. Why does that matter?

- How long does SOS need to keep inactive voters on the rolls?

- JW doesn't consider SOS data reliable and prefers the EAC data. It argues it has successfully used the EAC data in lawsuits in other states, i.e. that was the dataset accepted in court. I mistakenly said the EAC data was for 2018. It's actually for 2017. Still, it doesn't match any of the monthly data SOS released in 2017. What data SOS provided to EAC? Which dataset should people trust?

- The fact that JW used the 100 percent as a threshold seems arbitrary since their point is they try to prove non-compliance with NVRA. Census Bureau says Iowa has 70 percent reg. rate. SOS numbers indicate reg. rate of about 86 percent excluding inactives and excluding 5,000 17-year-olds.

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by NVRA?

Thanks, but FYI some of what you're saying is possibly tendentious as well. FYI Judicial Watch is standing by it's count of eight counties -- they're saying the number of counties is 5 according to the other data you guys are using, which they aren't relying on. They use their own data which involves interpolating EAC data with the use of professional demographers -- both California and Kentucky settled federal lawsuits with them last year over excess voter registrations and no one disputed their numbers.

Either way, I have one WaPo story saying only one county has more registrations than voters:

https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/conservatives-push-false-claims-voter-fraud-twitter-iowans-prepare-caucus/?itid=hp_rhp-bignews3_voter-fraud-155pm%3Ahomepage%2Fstory-ans

And another WaPo story saying it's five counties:

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2020/02/03/judicial-watches-voter-fraud-fear-mongering-finds-new-opponent-pro-voter-id-iowa-official/>

And you guys have issued a press release where you're not actually specifying the number. Starting to see the problem here?

And if you're a law and order GOP SoS, are we really going to die on the hill of 5 vs. 8 here? Wouldn't one county with this problem be considered an issue you guys need to address?

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>

Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>

On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>

The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.

No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

How come you already have February 2020 data?

Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.

Do you agree?

Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?

Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>

Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES -- A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Subject: AFP Factcheck

Good morning,

I am a fact-checking journalist for AFP news agency, and today I am looking into the Judicial Watch report according to which 8 Iowa counties have more registered voters than voting-age residents.

I have been looking at the numbers that the secretary of state used in his debunk of the claim: <https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/pdf/VRSStatsArchive/2020/Colan20.pdf>

They differ from the ones I found on the Electoral Assistance Commission websites, sometimes by several thousands: https://data.census.gov/cedsci/table?id=ACSSST6Y2018.S0101&q=05000000US19059.19119.19121.19103.19157.19163.19181.19049&vintage=2018&layer=county&hidePreview=false&cid=S0101_C01_001E
I'm guessing that your numbers and those of the EAC are compiled differently? Is there anything in particular that might account for this difference?

Would it be possible to also have a statement on the Judicial Watch report that became viral on Twitter yesterday? Why was it important for the secretary of state to react? Has anything like this happened in the past?

My deadline is this evening, could we maybe schedule a call for the end of the morning?

Thank you,

MEDIA RELEASE: Official statement from Secretary Pate regarding Iowa Caucuses

DES MOINES – Iowa Secretary of State Paul Pate released the following statement today regarding the Iowa Caucuses:

"The Iowa Secretary of State's Office and county auditors have no official role in the Iowa Caucuses. They are run by the political parties. Although the caucuses are the kickoff of the presidential nominating process, they are not elections. Iowans do a terrific job of vetting the candidates and I congratulate the tens of thousands of citizens who turned out on caucus night and made their voices heard.

The accuracy of the Iowa Democratic Party's vote totals is much more important than the timeliness of releasing the results. I am glad to hear they have a paper trail for their votes, just as we use paper ballots in all official elections in the State of Iowa. I support IDP while they take their time and conduct checks and balances to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the votes."

Kevin,

Wolf Blitzer would like very much to have Secretary Pate on the Situation Room tonight to discuss the Iowa caucus situation.

The program is on from 5p-7p ET and we would be happy to talk with the Secretary in whichever hour works best for him.

We look forward to hearing from you as soon as possible.

Thanks very much.

Subject: Voter registration - update
Date: Tuesday, February 4, 2020 11:17:47 AM

Hello Kevin.

I write for The Epoch Times (<https://www.theepochtimes.com/about-us>) in New York.

I'm looking into Sec. Pate's response to the Judicial Watch's claim of voter over-registration.

JW has responded to the rebuttal and here are the arguments, if you could please respond to them:

1) Voter registration numbers - JW used 2018 EAC data, which it considers more reliable. I see the EAC data shows Iowa had 2,193,813 registered voters in 2018. According to the Iowa State Secretary data, the state had only 2,180,926 registered voters in December 2018, which was the month with the highest number that year.
https://public.tableau.com/profile/u.s.election.assistance.commission#!/vizhome/EAVS2018DataViz-Labeld_11_25/EACDataVizTool
<https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/voterreg/county.html>
Why the discrepancy?

2) Voting-age citizen population numbers - JW seems to have used the Census numbers released last year: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2019.html>
On Jan. 31, new data was released: <https://www.census.gov/programs-surveys/decennial-census/about/voting-rights/cvap.2020.html>
The newly released data would show 7 counties over-registered (instead of 8), based on the EAC data, and 5 counties over-registered based on Feb. 2020 SOS data.
No matter how many counties, doesn't the over-registration indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?
How come you already have February 2020 data?
Would it be fair to say SOS went too far in calling JW Iowa population numbers "greatly underestimated" when the last year's Census data JW used only differ from the new Census data by 0.44 percent?

3) Inactive voters - JW argues that inactive voters are still counted for the purposes of voter roll maintenance as required by the National Voter Registration Act.
Do you agree?
Does SOS believe inactive voters shouldn't be counted? Why?
Even excluding inactive voters, Dallas county still has registration rate of about 104.6 percent and the state has a rate of over 86 percent (Census 2014-2018, SOS Feb. 2020 data). Meanwhile, Census Bureau survey says Iowa registration rate is less than 70 percent: <https://www.census.gov/data/tables/time-series/demo/voting-and-registration/p20-583.html>
Doesn't this indicate Iowa still has more work to do to clean up its voter rolls as required by the National Voter Registration Act?

I'm on a tight deadline.

Thank you!

Best,

MEDIA RELEASE: Office statement from Secretary Pate regarding Iowa Caucuses

DES MOINES – Iowa Secretary of State Paul Pate released the following statement today regarding the Iowa Caucuses:

“The Iowa Secretary of State’s Office and county auditors have no official role in the Iowa Caucuses. They are run by the political parties. Although the caucuses are the kickoff of the presidential nominating process, they are not elections. Iowans do a terrific job of vetting the candidates and I congratulate the tens of thousands of citizens who turned out on caucus night and made their voices heard.

The accuracy of the Iowa Democratic Party’s vote totals is much more important than the timeliness of releasing the results. I am glad to hear they have a paper trail for their votes, just as we use paper ballots in all official elections in the State of Iowa. I support IDP while they take their time and conduct checks and balances to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the votes.”

Kevin,

I left a message already -- was hoping you could talk to me about the voter registration controversy? I fear the Post has made a hash of the story...

This is good news, thank you for sharing!

I didn't hear back from Kevin last night, but I just spoke with Maria Benson and she let me know that she's been working closely with him and with Kevin Kane at Twitter and Brian Scully at DHS. This is the kind of area where Twitter's policies fail pretty badly.

I provided that very same talking point to Senate Intel this morning, members of the media, and NASED just tweeted it (NASS, too).

Good morning,

I am a fact-checking journalist for AFP news agency, and today I am looking into the Judicial Watch report according to which 8 Iowa counties have more registered voters than voting-age residents.

I have been looking at the numbers that the secretary of state used in his debunk of the claim: <https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/pdf/VRSIatsArchive/2020/Cojan20.pdf>

They differ from the ones I found on the Electoral Assistance Commission websites, sometimes by several thousands: https://data.census.gov/cedsci/table?tid=ACSS15Y2018.S0101&q=0500000US19059,19119,19121,19103,19157,19163,19181,19049&vintage=2018&layer=county&hidePreview=false&cid=S0101_C01_001F
I'm guessing that your numbers and those of the EAC are compiled differently? Is there anything in particular that might account for this difference?

Would it be possible to also have a statement on the Judicial Watch report that became viral on Twitter yesterday? Why was it important for the secretary of state to react? Has anything like this happened in the past?

My deadline is this evening, could we maybe schedule a call for the end of the morning?

Thank you,

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

I highly recommend our recent Facebook fact-check be removed (Feb 3, 2020) because they are wrong. Flat out wrong. It is clear that nobody is fact-checking the fact-checker because:

- 1) Our source was Judicial Watch yet the page the fact-check links to is about Gateway Pundit.
- 2) We used the same title as Judicial Watch's press release
- 3) Our article links back to the Judicial Watch press release

4) Judicial Watch's data source is the one that will be used for actual voting whereas the fact-checker used census data. Census data does not collect information on voters.

Wayne Drasher with Leadstories.com was the fact-check source Facebook linked to for this fact-check. When the fact-checker created this fact-check, he clearly avoided actually fact-checking Judicial Watch (which is our source) demonstrated by his use of a Newsguard link that takes you to the information on Gateway Pundit. As for the data from Judicial Watch, they are standing by their data according to a statement from the Judicial Watch president Tom Fitton:

"It is shameful that the secretary state of Iowa would mislead Iowans and Americans about the accuracy of the state's registration rolls.

Judicial Watch's analysis of Iowa's state registration rolls is based on official voter registration data provided by Iowa to the federal Election Assistance Commission (EAC) for publication in 2019.

Iowa's Secretary of State and local officials need to clean up the election rolls and reassure voters that its election process is being administered in compliance with federal law and common sense."

Judicial Watch is a foundation that holds themselves to a high standard and their success in the Supreme Court dealing with errors in voter rolls shows that they are capable in pulling the correct data. Judicial Watch is a trusted source, that is why we used Judicial Watch as our source.

When a fact-checker places an incorrect fact-check on a Facebook page, this potentially reduces reach and reduces our credibility. This can also affect a websites financial viability. I recommend that this fact-check be corrected or we will need to consider legal options.

I highly recommend our recent Facebook fact-check be removed (Feb 3, 2020) because they are wrong. Flat out wrong. It is clear that nobody is fact-checking the fact-checker because:

- 1) Our source was Judicial Watch yet the page the fact-check links to is about Gateway Pundit.
- 2) We used the same title as Judicial Watch's press release
- 3) Our article links back to the Judicial Watch press release
- 4) Judicial Watch's data source is the one that will be used for actual voting whereas the fact-checker used census data. Census data does not collect information on voters.

Wayne Drasher with Leadstories.com was the fact-check source Facebook linked to for this fact-check. When the fact-checker created this fact-check, he clearly avoided actually fact-checking Judicial Watch (which is our source) demonstrated by his use of a Newsguard link that takes you to the information on Gateway Pundit. As for the data from Judicial Watch, they are standing by their data according to a statement from the Judicial Watch president Tom Fitton:

"It is shameful that the secretary state of Iowa would mislead Iowans and Americans about the accuracy of the state's registration rolls.

Judicial Watch's analysis of Iowa's state registration rolls is based on official voter registration data provided by Iowa to the federal Election Assistance Commission (EAC) for publication in 2019.

Iowa's Secretary of State and local officials need to clean up the election rolls and reassure voters that its election process is being administered in compliance with federal law and common sense."

Judicial Watch is a foundation that holds themselves to a high standard and their success in the Supreme Court dealing with errors in voter rolls shows that they are capable in pulling the correct data. Judicial Watch is a trusted source, that is why we used Judicial Watch as our source.

When a fact-checker places an incorrect fact-check on a Facebook page, this potentially reduces reach and reduces our credibility. This can also affect a websites financial viability. I recommend that this fact-check be corrected or we will need to consider legal options.

We will revise your rating if you add to your story the statement from the Iowa Secretary of State and include a statement at the top of the story noting the update. You should also revise your headline to make it clear that there is a dispute over the claim made by Judicial Watch.

To all concerned parties:

Concerning press release article taken directly from Judicial Watch: Eight Iowa Counties Have Total Registration Rates Larger than Eligible Voter Population – at Least 18,658 Extra Names on Iowa Voting Rolls

I highly recommend our recent Facebook fact-check be removed (Feb 3, 2020) because they are wrong. Flat out wrong. It is clear that nobody is fact-checking the fact-checker because:

- 1) Our source was Judicial Watch yet the page the fact-check links to is about Gateway Pundit.
- 2) We used the same title as Judicial Watch's press release
- 3) Our article links back to the Judicial Watch press release
- 4) Judicial Watch's data source is the one that will be used for actual voting whereas the fact-checker used census data. Census data does not collect information on voters.

Wayne Drasher with Leadstories.com was the fact-check source Facebook linked to for this fact-check. When the fact-checker created this fact-check, he clearly avoided actually fact-checking Judicial Watch (which is our source) demonstrated by his use of a Newsguard link that takes you to the information on Gateway Pundit. As for the data from Judicial Watch, they are standing by their data according to a statement from the Judicial Watch president Tom Fitton:

"It is shameful that the secretary state of Iowa would mislead Iowans and Americans about the accuracy of the state's registration rolls.

Judicial Watch's analysis of Iowa's state registration rolls is based on official voter registration data provided by Iowa to the federal Election Assistance Commission (EAC) for publication in 2019.

Iowa's Secretary of State and local officials need to clean up the election rolls and reassure voters that its election process is being administered in compliance with federal law and common sense."

Judicial Watch is a foundation that holds themselves to a high standard and their success in the Supreme Court dealing with errors in voter rolls shows that they are capable in pulling the correct data. Judicial Watch is a trusted source, that is why we used Judicial Watch as our source.

When a fact-checker places an incorrect fact-check on a Facebook page, this potentially reduces reach and reduces our credibility. This can also affect a websites financial viability. I recommend that this fact-check be corrected or we will need to consider legal options.

Thank you from a person who is fed up with fake fact-checks,

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES — A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Facebook, thankfully, was helpful. I would suggest perhaps reviewing your policies at Twitter and putting them more in line with what Facebook is doing to counter election misinformation.

Here are 3 prominent fact checkers that examined the claims and rated them false:

Kevin,

When a group is falsely claiming there are more voters than there are actual people in the county, that IS voter suppression. It leads people to believe their vote is invalid or won't count. It absolutely does rise to the level of voter suppression.

Thanks Maria -

This was reviewed by our team and is not in violation of our election integrity policy as it does not suppress voter turnout or mislead people about when, where, or how to vote. I understand this is not the outcome you are seeking and appreciate you continuing to report Tweets to our team.

Best,

Kevin

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES -- A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Hi Kevin,

I hope your Monday is going well.

I'm reaching out on behalf of Newsroom w/Poppy Harlow & Jim Sciutto hoping Iowa Secretary of State Paul Pate can join for an interview.

Is Mr. Pate available to join CNN tomorrow, Tuesday February 4th in the 9:45a et OR 10:45a et?

This would be live, for about 5-7 minutes, to discuss Mr. Pate's concerns over viral misinformation about voter registration and related political news.

Please feel free to contact me via email or at (404) 452-7769 to let me know.

Thanks for your time- I look forward to hearing from you soon.

To all concerned parties:

Concerning press release article taken directly from Judicial Watch: Eight Iowa Counties Have Total Registration Rates Larger than Eligible Voter Population – at Least 18,658 Extra Names on Iowa Voting Rolls

I highly recommend our recent Facebook fact-check be removed (Feb 3, 2020) because they are wrong. Flat out wrong. It is clear that nobody is fact-checking the fact-checker because:

- 1) Our source was Judicial Watch yet the page the fact-check links to is about Gateway Pundit.
- 2) We used the same title as Judicial Watch's press release
- 3) Our article links back to the Judicial Watch press release
- 4) Judicial Watch's data source is the one that will be used for actual voting whereas the fact-checker used census data. Census data does not collect information on voters.

Wayne Drasher with Leadstories.com was the fact-check source Facebook linked to for this fact-check. When the fact-checker created this fact-check, he clearly avoided actually fact-checking Judicial Watch (which is our source) demonstrated by his use of a Newsguard link that takes you to the information on Gateway Pundit. As for the data from Judicial Watch, they are standing by their data according to a statement from the Judicial Watch president Tom Fitton:

"It is shameful that the secretary state of Iowa would mislead Iowans and Americans about the accuracy of the state's registration rolls.

Judicial Watch's analysis of Iowa's state registration rolls is based on official voter registration data provided by Iowa to the federal Election Assistance Commission (EAC) for publication in 2019.

Iowa's Secretary of State and local officials need to clean up the election rolls and reassure voters that its election process is being administered in compliance with federal law and common sense."

Judicial Watch is a foundation that holds themselves to a high standard and their success in the Supreme Court dealing with errors in voter rolls shows that they are capable in pulling the correct data. Judicial Watch is a trusted source, that is why we used Judicial Watch as our source.

When a fact-checker places an incorrect fact-check on a Facebook page, this potentially reduces reach and reduces our credibility. This can also affect a websites financial viability. I recommend that this fact-check be corrected or we will need to consider legal options.

Thank you from a person who is fed up with fake fact-checks,

Hi Kevin,

I hope your Monday is going well.

I'm reaching out on behalf of Newsroom w/Poppy Harlow & Jim Sciutto hoping Iowa Secretary of State Paul Pate can join for an interview.

Is Mr. Pate available to join CNN tomorrow, Tuesday February 4th in the 9:45a et OR 10:45a et?

This would be live, for about 5-7 minutes, to discuss Mr. Pate's concerns over viral misinformation about voter registration and related political news.

Please feel free to contact me via email or at (404) 452-7769 to let me know.

Thanks for your time- I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Have Pate call me about this Judicial Watch press release? 515-778-6670

Judicial Watch President Tom Fitton made the following statement regarding the Iowa secretary of state misleading Americans and state residents about the accuracy of Iowa's registration rolls:

It is shameful that the secretary state of Iowa would mislead Iowans and Americans about the accuracy of the state's registration rolls.

Judicial Watch's analysis of Iowa's state registration rolls is based on official voter registration data provided by Iowa to the federal Election Assistance Commission (EAC) for publication in 2019. Data concerning such registrations must be reported to the EAC by law under federal regulation 11 C.F.R. § 9428.7.

Based on this federal data, Judicial Watch found eight counties with registration rates over 100% of the voting age population. The next reliable report on Iowa's registration rolls won't occur until after the November election, as the EAC's next report will be released in 2021.

The Iowa secretary of state's release of interim voter registration data further confirms our concerns and shows that five of the eight counties we listed are still over 100%. Nearly three dozen counties have a registration rate over 95% of the voter age population, which is extraordinarily high. Our data has proven to be a strong indicator of voter registration issues and a basis for further inquiry. Based on lawsuits alleging the same voter registration issues, Judicial Watch has obtained three statewide settlement agreements, including a consent decree in the Commonwealth of Kentucky in 2018 and a settlement with Los Angeles County and the State of California in 2019.

California last year began the process of removing up to 1.5 million "inactive" names from Los Angeles County voter rolls. Kentucky also began a cleanup of up to 150,000 names last year. In 2018, the Supreme Court upheld a voter roll clean up in Ohio that resulted from a Judicial Watch settlement. A federal court ordered the State of Maryland to produce voter list data for its largest county based on the work of Judicial Watch. Our approach has survived federal court scrutiny in four states.

Iowa's Secretary of State and local officials need to clean up the election rolls and reassure voters that the state's election process is being administered in compliance with federal law and common sense.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

CAUTION: EXTERNAL SENDER

Cat,

Here's the email chain with Twitter. Their response is disappointing (I misspelled "they're" in the original reply to Kevin Kane. Fixed it below).

Kevin,

When a group is falsely claiming there are more voters than there are actual people in the county, that IS voter suppression. It leads people to believe their vote is invalid or won't count. It absolutely does rise to the level of voter suppression.

Their claims are false, we've proven they're false, mainstream media like the Washington Post have proven they're false. What more do you guys need?

Have Pate call me about this Judicial Watch press release? 515-778-6670

Judicial Watch President Tom Fitton made the following statement regarding the Iowa secretary of state misleading Americans and state residents about the accuracy of Iowa's registration rolls:

It is shameful that the secretary state of Iowa would mislead Iowans and Americans about the accuracy of the state's registration rolls.

Judicial Watch's analysis of Iowa's state registration rolls is based on official voter registration data provided by Iowa to the federal Election Assistance Commission (EAC) for publication in 2019. Data concerning such registrations must be reported to the EAC by law under federal regulation 11 C.F.R. § 9428.7.

Based on this federal data, Judicial Watch found eight counties with registration rates over 100% of the voting age population. The next reliable report on Iowa's registration rolls won't occur until after the November election, as the EAC's next report will be released in 2021.

The Iowa secretary of state's release of interim voter registration data further confirms our concerns and shows that five of the eight counties we listed are still over 100%. Nearly three dozen counties have a registration rate over 95% of the voter age population, which is extraordinarily high. Our data has proven to be a strong indicator of voter registration issues and a basis for further inquiry. Based on lawsuits alleging the same voter registration issues, Judicial Watch has obtained three statewide settlement agreements, including a consent decree in the Commonwealth of Kentucky in 2018 and a settlement with Los Angeles County and the State of California in 2019.

California last year began the process of removing up to 1.5 million "inactive" names from Los Angeles County voter rolls. Kentucky also began a cleanup of up to 150,000 names last year. In 2018, the Supreme Court upheld a voter roll clean up in Ohio that resulted from a Judicial Watch settlement. A federal court ordered the State of Maryland to produce voter list data for its largest county based on the work of Judicial Watch. Our approach has survived federal court scrutiny in four states.

Iowa's Secretary of State and local officials need to clean up the election rolls and reassure voters that the state's election process is being administered in compliance with federal law and common sense.

I've been playing whack-a-mole on social media all day with the false Judicial Watch claims, and haven't had time for anything else, so this isn't even close to all the media clips. Consider it Monday pt. 1. To be continued...

Also, TVNews, where we get the video clips from, was hit with a ransomware attack last week, so we don't have any clips from them available right now.

OFFICE OF THE IOWA SECRETARY OF STATE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT: Kevin Hall

Communications Director

(515) 725-2942

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Thanks Maria -

This was reviewed by our team and is not in violation of our election integrity policy as it does not suppress voter turnout or mislead people about when, where, or how to vote. I understand this is not the outcome you are seeking and appreciate you continuing to report Tweets to our team.

Best,

Kevin

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

I understand Iowa Secretary of State Pate is concerned about information published by Judicial Watch voter registration in eight counties and states the information is not correct. The SOS can immediately put this allegation to rest by publishing total registration of eligible voters for those counties versus the population of eligible voters in those counties. Problem solved. Unless JW is correct!

Iowa Code §48A.30 covers the reasons why a voter's registration may be cancelled.

A voter can move directly from active to cancelled for the following reasons:

1. The registered voter dies.
2. The registered voter registers to vote in another jurisdiction, and the County Auditor (typically via the SoS) receives notice of the registration from the registration official in the other jurisdiction.
3. The registered voter requires the cancellation in writing.
4. A verified felony conviction.
5. The registered voter is adjudged mentally incompetent to vote.
6. The registered voter declares that they are not a United States citizen on a jury form.

A voter moves from active to inactive for the following reasons:

If one of the following mailings is sent and it is returned as undeliverable by the post office, the voter's status must be changed to "Inactive":

- Voter registration acknowledgement mailing
- NCOA card
- No Activity in 4 Years card
- Countywide mailing postcard for counties that do not use NCOA
- Absentee Ballot

"Inactive" status also includes the following:

- Voters who have been identified in the NCOA process as having moved outside the county.
- Voters who are mailed an NCOA, a countywide mailing, or a No Activity notice and a third party responds to the notice indicating the voter does not live at that address anymore. This is the only time you can take action on a voter's record based on a third party notice.

- Voters identified by county registrars during the multi-state match process as having more recent voter registration activity in another state.

An inactive voter is one who has not voted in at least two consecutive general elections and failed to respond to official mailings. Usually, these are people who have moved. The active voter registration totals are more accurate.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Iowa Code §48A.30 covers the reasons why a voter's registration may be cancelled.

A voter can move directly from active to cancelled for the following reasons:

1. The registered voter dies.
2. The registered voter registers to vote in another jurisdiction, and the County Auditor (typically via the SoS) receives notice of the registration from the registration official in the other jurisdiction.
3. The registered voter requires the cancellation in writing.
4. A verified felony conviction.
5. The registered voter is adjudged mentally incompetent to vote.
6. The registered voter declares that they are not a United States citizen on a jury form.

A voter moves from active to inactive for the following reasons:

If one of the following mailings is sent and it is returned as undeliverable by the post office, the voter's status must be changed to "Inactive":

- Voter registration acknowledgement mailing
- NCOA card
- No Activity in 4 Years card
- Countywide mailing postcard for counties that do not use NCOA
- Absentee Ballot

"Inactive" status also includes the following:

- Voters who have been identified in the NCOA process as having moved outside the county.
- Voters who are mailed an NCOA, a countywide mailing, or a No Activity notice and a third party responds to the notice indicating the voter does not live at that address anymore. This is the only time you can take action on a voter's record based on a third party notice.

- Voters identified by county registrars during the multi-state match process as having more recent voter registration activity in another state.

What ways are inactive voters removed from the list?

An inactive voter is one who has not voted in at least two consecutive general elections and failed to respond to official mailings. Usually, these are people who have moved. The active voter registration totals are more accurate.

I'm following the social media channels for this sort of thing as it relates to Iowa elections. It's important to remember the Iowa Caucuses are run by the political parties. They are not official State of Iowa elections.

Twitter, Facebook and Google have been helpful in partnering with secretaries of state on the NASS' #TrustedInfo2020 initiative.

Hi Kevin,

I hope this email finds you well. My name is Emily Birnbaum and I'm a tech policy reporter with The Hill newspaper.

I'm working on an article right now about social media misinformation around the Iowa caucus. And I'm wondering what the Iowa secretary of state's office is doing to counter any viral falsehoods and conspiracy theories bubbling up online.

Is anyone with the secretary of state's office available to chat sometime today or tomorrow about your approach, the challenges you're facing and what you're seeing on the platforms?

I know this is a crazy time, to say the least. But if you're able to make someone available or share a statement about what you're doing to counter misinformation, I'd appreciate it immensely.

Thanks so much for any input you could provide! My number is 301-525-4563 if that's any easier.

Subject: Response to Judicial Watch's false claims

Dear County Auditor,

Secretary Pate asked me to share this information with you. Judicial Watch issued this news release today, claiming 8 Iowa counties have total registration rates larger than eligible voter population.

In response, we sent out this media release:

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Additionally, the Washington Post already has a story up, also debunking their claims:

An inactive voter is one who has not voted in at least two consecutive general elections and failed to respond to official mailings. Usually, these are people who have moved. The active voter registration totals are more accurate.

Dear County Auditor,

Secretary Pate asked me to share this information with you. Judicial Watch issued this news release today, claiming 8 Iowa counties have total registration rates larger than eligible voter population.

In response, we sent out this media release:

OFFICE OF THE IOWA SECRETARY OF STATE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES — A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Additionally, the Washington Post already has a story up, also debunking their claims:

Nothing like that planned as of now. Important to remember the political parties run the caucuses. They are not official State of Iowa elections. Will let you guys know if anything else pops up.

Hi Kevin,

Nice meeting you in person on Thursday! Here's the story ICYMI. Do you know yet about plans to report out any issues during the caucuses tonight? Is Secretary Pate planning on putting out a statement or doing a call if there are/ aren't issues?

Thanks,

Lucky you!

Judicial Watch has gone after many of your colleagues recently, but nice of them to capitalize on the caucus attention. I believe I spoke to Clay Helms in Alabama about this a few months ago, but I also know they've gone after Maryland.

It was great to see you! I hope you enjoyed the conference and that the rest of today goes smoothly!

Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

I'm following the social media channels for this sort of thing as it relates to Iowa elections. It's important to remember the Iowa Caucuses are run by the political parties. They are not official State of Iowa elections.

Twitter, Facebook and Google have been helpful in partnering with secretaries of state on the NASS' #TrustedInfo2020 initiative.

Thanks, Kevin. For my reporting: do you have anyone monitoring for this kind of social media misinformation in your office?

Hi Kevin,

I hope this email finds you well. My name is Emily Birnbaum and I'm a tech policy reporter with The Hill newspaper.

I'm working on an article right now about social media misinformation around the Iowa caucus. And I'm wondering what the Iowa secretary of state's office is doing to counter any viral falsehoods and conspiracy theories bubbling up online.

Is anyone with the secretary of state's office available to chat sometime today or tomorrow about your approach, the challenges you're facing and what you're seeing on the platforms?

I know this is a crazy time, to say the least. But if you're able to make someone available or share a statement about what you're doing to counter misinformation, I'd appreciate it immensely.

Thanks so much for any input you could provide! My number is 301-525-4563 if that's any easier.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C.-based organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES — A Washington D.C. organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

MEDIA RELEASE: Official data rebuts false claims regarding Iowa voter registration

DES MOINES – A Washington D.C. organization made false claims today in a news release regarding voter registration information in eight Iowa counties. Judicial Watch claims that total registration numbers in these counties are larger than the eligible voter population. Official data compiled by the Iowa Secretary of State's Office shows this information is false.

"It's unfortunate this organization continues to put out inaccurate data regarding voter registration, and it's especially disconcerting they chose the day of the Iowa Caucus to do this," Secretary Pate said. "My office has told this organization, and others who have made similar claims, that their data regarding Iowa is deeply flawed and their false claims erode voter confidence in elections. They should stop this misinformation campaign immediately and quit trying to disenfranchise Iowa voters."

Iowa's voter registration statistics are publicly available on the Secretary of State's website. They are updated monthly. These numbers show that the ones claimed by Judicial Watch in their news release today are patently false.

Along with their false claims about the voter registration numbers, the organization's claims about Iowa population are greatly underestimated, according to actual data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The Iowa Secretary of State's Office stands with its county auditors and the methods they use to provide clean and accurate voter rolls.

Kevin,

I inquired with Mr. Fitton's organization and was given the eight counties he mentioned – Dallas, Johnson, Lyon, Dickinson, Scott, Warren, Madison and Poweshiek – and indeed, it appears the number of people he is claiming are on the voter rolls is inaccurate. For instance, in Dallas County Mr. Fitton claims there are more than 91,000 people registered to vote, when the SOS database shows 63,000 total voters, active and inactive.

The other seven follow a similar pattern.

Mr. Fitton is also using inaccurate population totals for several of the counties: For instance, he claims there are 80,000 people in Dallas County, when the US Census Bureau shows there to be more than 90,000.

The AP will be writing a story evaluating Mr. Fitton's claim. I'm happy to include the information you've already provided me, but I wanted to see if you or SOS Pate wanted to send me a statement (or, if he's bored on Caucus Day, a telephone call) to talk about the veracity of Mr. Fitton's claim of a serious problem in the state's voter rolls.

Kevin,

Good morning. We're obviously watching for online claims relating to Iowa elections today, and though this isn't specific to today's Caucus, we're seeing a claim made by Tom Fitton of Judicial Watch is getting traction today:

<https://twitter.com/charliekirk11/status/1224068914067329024>

Basically, he's alleging that thanks to non-active voters (dead, moved away, etc) the rolls in eight counties outnumber the voting population.

Do you have a minute to talk about this today? We'll want to include whatever perspective the SOS has on this claim. Happy to discuss more what I'm looking for. I'm sure you're busy today, so happy to correspond on email too.

Kevin,

Good morning. We're obviously watching for online claims relating to Iowa elections today, and though this isn't specific to today's Caucus, we're seeing a claim made by Tom Fitton of Judicial Watch is getting traction today:

<https://twitter.com/charliekirk11/status/1224068914067329024>

Basically, he's alleging that thanks to non-active voters (dead, moved away, etc) the rolls in eight counties outnumber the voting population.

Do you have a minute to talk about this today? We'll want to include whatever perspective the SOS has on this claim. Happy to discuss more what I'm looking for. I'm sure you're busy today, so happy to correspond on email too.

Best,
