DES MOINES, IA — State Senator Charlie McClintock has endorsed Adam Steen for Governor of Iowa, adding his name to the growing list of conservative leaders backing Steen’s campaign.

Senator McClintock cited Steen’s proven leadership, strategic vision, and commitment to serving Iowans as key reasons for his endorsement.

“I am pleased to add my name to the growing number of supporters for Iowa Governor candidate Adam Steen. Candidate endorsements are not given, they are earned, and Adam has certainly proven himself worthy of mine.

In working with Adam, he has demonstrated the key qualities and skills necessary to lead Iowa in the Governor’s office. He has a strategic vision for the state that includes financial security and prosperity, economic growth, and transparency in government.

Finally, I have been on the campaign trail with Adam, and I have personally observed his active engagement with Iowa citizens. He has demonstrated a sincere understanding of our needs and has committed himself to shaping policy reflecting our interests. This is the very essence of a ‘People’s Governor’ for Iowa.”

Adam Steen thanked Senator McClintock for his support, calling the endorsement a strong affirmation of the campaign’s focus on people-centered leadership.

“I’m grateful for Senator McClintock’s endorsement,” said Steen. “Charlie understands that leadership starts with listening to the people and delivering results. I’m honored by his confidence as we work to build a stronger, more transparent Iowa.”
