Can you explain what exactly happens during the recanvass? Will they be checking/counting the preference cards? Or only comparing the caucus math worksheet to the official results?

Will they correct any calculation errors that may become apparent upon review of the caucus math worksheet? (For instance, two delegates assigned to Warren and one to Sanders in DSM 14, where 50 people caucused for Sanders and 31 for Warren) Or does that only happen if there is a recount?

Iowa Democratic Party Accepts Full Requests For Limited-Scope Recanvasses

DES MOINES – Today, the Iowa Democratic Party returned recanvass assessments to the Sanders and Buttigieg campaigns accepting their full limited-scope requests. See attached for the full letters.

On Friday morning, the IDP Recanvass/Recount Committee, in consultation with the State Central Committee, will transmit to the campaigns further details on costs associated with the recanvass and the timeline going forward. Campaigns will have 24 hours from receipt of that information to provide the IDP with a final decision on whether to proceed with the request.

The Committee expects the recanvass to commence beginning Sunday, February 16, and last for two days. The recanvass will be conducted by appointed recanvass administrators, under the supervision and direction of the Committee. In accordance with the Delegate Selection Plan, up to two representatives from each presidential campaign will be allowed to oversee the precinct recanvass on site. Per the DSP, the recanvassing room will not be open to the public or the press.
